

FEMALE CONVICT ESCAPES FROM JAIL

Mrs. Pauline James Was Convicted of Forgery.

LIVED A TWO-SIDED LIFE

But Few of Her Neighbors Knew of Her Various Misdeeds—How She Once Eluded the Officers.

(Special Dispatch to The Times.)
KEYSTONE, W. VA., November 12.—The whereabouts of Mrs. Pauline James is one of the greatest mysteries that has confronted the officers of this section in many years. Several weeks ago Mrs. James was convicted in the McDowell County Criminal Court of forgery, and sentenced to the penitentiary at Moundsville for a term of two years. She was remanded to jail pending a trip to the State prison, but her escape a few nights later created a sensation from which the authorities have not yet fully recovered. The McDowell County jail is one of the very best in the State, and that the woman fled through three sets of iron bars and made her exit without molesting a single one of the sixty-two prisoners, was remarkable to say the least of it.

REWARD OFFERED.
As soon as her escape became known a reward of $200 was immediately offered for her capture, and a full description of the fugitive was telegraphed all over the State, but as yet no tidings as to her whereabouts have reached the authorities.

For several years previous to her arrest and conviction Mrs. James had lived a Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde kind of existence, and had frequently been in trouble for misdeeds of various kinds. At her home, which was at Kimball, W. Va., she moved in good society and was highly respected. At short intervals, however, she would visit near-by towns and commit all kinds of offenses, for which she was usually punished by fines or short terms in prison.

JUMPED OUT OF WINDOW.
It was a long time before this fact became generally known in her town, for the reason that the section is comparatively newly settled, and people there do not take much interest in one another's affairs. When she learned that she was about to be arrested for forgery, she planned to elude the officers, and came very near succeeding. Officers called at her home at night. She readily acknowledged their presence, but when they entered the room, she slipped out of a back window and made her escape for the time being. She was, however, arrested a few days later.

SOLDIER OF BOER WAR

He is Sentenced to Penitentiary Without a Jury Verdict.

(Special Dispatch to The Times.)
EAST RADFORD, VA., November 12.—Summer weather still lingers, the thermometer today being 70 in the shade, which makes the heart of the cattleman rejoice, because the grass still continues to grow, and feeding time is consequently put further off, feed of all kinds being exceedingly scarce.

The remains of Engineer C. Pate were today taken to Bedford City for interment, and funeral services were held in the Methodist Church of East Radford over the remains of John W. Dyer, of whom it was last reported that he died Sunday. Mr. Robert Parks is doing as well as could be expected, and if no unforeseen complications arise he will be able for duty in a few weeks.

Hon. W. N. Hagland, referee in bankruptcy, was this week reported for the third time by Judge McDowell, of the Western District of Virginia.

The judge of the Hastings Court of this city on yesterday was called upon to sentence the first prisoner to the penitentiary without the intervention of a jury, under the new Constitution. The case was a sad one: a discharged soldier of the Boer war was passing through Radford, and being "strapped" he sought work, but finding none to his satisfaction, broke and entered the storehouse of the Virginia Iron, Coal and Coke Company by boring through the floor from the underside, with the intention, as he stated, of stealing only some clothing, but once in the store "temptation overcame me," as he said to the judge, and he took watches and other things; so upon his confession he was sentenced to two years.

The monthly meeting of the City Council was held last night and passed an ordinance prohibiting any license to be hereafter granted to sell liquor at any point within 200 feet of either of the postoffices. The financial report was received, and the finances of the city were found to be in better shape than at any other time in the city's history. The October interest on the bonds has all been met, and that floating debt of any consequence exists, while the taxes for the current year have been gratefully paid up.

Rev. W. L. Irwin, pastor of the Presbyterian Churches of this city, who has been at the home of his mother, in Lexington, for the past three months, ill with fever, is now convalescing, and will return and take charge of his pastorate in a few weeks.

As a passenger train rolled into the East Radford Station from the East this morning a negro stepped right in front

TWO WERE SENTENCED

Isle of Wight County's Court Session Was a Brief One.

(Special Dispatch to The Times.)
FERGUSON'S WHARF, VA., November 12.—The wheels of justice "got a move on them" at Isle of Wight County house last Wednesday. Judge Atkinson held a special court on Wednesday, November 12th, to dispose of some cases which had been postponed from time to time, as it was necessary to keep the prisoners in Suffolk jail until the new fall at the courthouse was completed. Two criminal cases were tried, by the consent of counsel and prisoners, under section 3 of the new Constitution. Conway Holman, for shooting Henry Pittman with intent to kill, plead guilty and was sentenced to the penitentiary for five years, and Sam Jordan, for the murder of Davy Sweet, was sentenced for eighteen years. Both are colored.

A large crowd was at the cemetery at the old brick church at Bacon's Castle Sunday afternoon, it being the regular fall memorial day of the memorial association, which meets twice a year, in the spring and autumn, and decorates the graves of loved ones buried in the old church yard.

This association was formed several years ago by that grand old Virginia Christian gentleman, Major Blair Peggam, and by his efforts the church yard is kept in beautiful condition.

The church yard was ablaze with roses and chrysanthemums Sunday. Every grave received a floral tribute. A splendid address was delivered by Dr. M. E. Broadus.

NO MORE COURT DAYS

Northern Neck Baseball League Formed An Interesting Marriage.

(Special Dispatch to The Times.)
HEATHSVILLE, VA., Nov. 12.—The regular monthly term of County Court was held here Monday. The people regret the fact that after the first of January, 1903, there will be no more monthly county courts days, came out in large numbers.

The Hannie Kent betrayal case is being tried. A great deal of interest is manifested in the case and many doubts are expressed as to the result.

The base-ball league for the Northern Neck was formed here Monday and representatives from all parts of the Neck attended the meeting. Officers were temporarily elected until December court, when the representatives will meet again and the constitution and by-laws of the league will be formulated and the officers permanently elected.

The home of Mr. Robert Pittman was the scene of a very pretty wedding last Wednesday afternoon when Miss George Pittman became the bride of Mr. J. O. Tally. The bride is a very pretty and attractive young lady of this county, while the groom is a prosperous young business man of Lancaster county.

Mr. Charles Waddy died at his home, near Rehoboth Church, this county, recently, after a long spell of sickness. He was one of our most industrious and popular men and leaves a large family.

NEW BOAT ON THE RAPPAHANNOCK

Operated as Experiment to Draw Trade to Fredericksburg.

LOCAL OPTION IN LOUISA

City Bonds Are Sold Above Par—Game Being Protected by Many Farmers. Opening of New Streets Will Give Needed Building Sites.

(Special Dispatch to The Times.)
FREDERICKSBURG, VA., November 12.—Mr. H. H. Richmond, has arranged with the Business Men's Association and a number of merchants of this city to run a river steamer from this city to Urbana, on the Lower Rappahannock, taking in all landings, between the two points, the steamer to leave here every Monday, Wednesday, and Friday, returning on Tuesday, Thursday, and Saturday. The name of the steamer is the Tourist with a capacity of 500 passengers and a large quantity of freight. The experiment will be tried in running this boat for a stated period, and if the business justifies its continuance, the steamer will be put on permanently. The promoters of this project believe that the large bulk of trade of the Rappahannock Valley, which naturally belongs here, but which is now divided between several points, will be concentrated and brought to this market.

Great relief is felt here at the arrival of a consignment of anthracite coal, which will be sold in small lots at $8 per ton. The dealers generally expect other shipments to arrive within the next week or ten days.

The $3,000 of four per cent street improvement bonds of the city have been sold at a price above par. In response to the advertisement calling for bids for these bonds, there were a number of bids submitted, and the highest bid secured the bonds.

PROTECTING GAME.
The hunting season is on now, and the beautiful weather and the abundance of game attracts many persons with their guns and dogs to the fields and woods. Many of the farms in this section, however, are posted, and the owners are firm in their resolve not to allow any hunting on their lands. In this way a great deal of game is protected, and some of these farmers do not shoot the game themselves, and on some farms there are coveys of quail, a colored quail, and other game birds.

In consequence of the determination of the farmers to protect the game, some of the hunters are continually getting into trouble. Charles Grayson, a colored hunter of this city, while driving in Stafford county, near here, saw a swamp rosin near the road, and stopped and took a shot at it. Complaint was lodged against him that he was unlawfully hunting on the land of Mr. George Purvis and was guilty of unlawfully shooting within 100 yards of the public road, and he was fined $10 with costs for the shot.

LOCAL OPTION IN LOUISA.

Judge F. W. Sims, of the County Court of Louisa, in response to petitions has ordered a local option election in the Green Springs District of Louisa county, in which there are now only two bar rooms, in which there are now only two bar rooms, in which there are now only two bar rooms.

The City Council at its meeting last night ordered that Wolfe and Weedon Streets and Washington Avenue be opened and extended. Commissioners who had been appointed to look after the damage to the property to be used for this purpose, made a report, and in a number of cases the amount of damages named by the owners and by the commissioners differed materially. The commissioners were instructed to settle with the owners, if it could be done on a satisfactory basis, otherwise the Corporation Court would be asked to appoint a commission to condemn the property. The extension of these streets will involve a considerable expenditure of money by the city, but will result in great improvements and the opening up of new building sites, which are now badly needed, as there are now no vacant lots in the city, and the new building, a great deal of which is going on, is necessarily confined to certain parts of the suburbs.

A large portion of Somerset Beach, a summer resort on the Atlantic River, in King George county, was sold yesterday at auction here to-day, and purchased by Ernest L. Payne, of King George county, for $1,000.

CARTERSVILLE, VA., Nov. 12.—Last night the young people of Cartersville and vicinity gathered at the Methodist parsonage to enjoy the last Epworth League social of this Conference year. The hostess, J. M. Payne, had artistically arranged her parlors, placing here and there evergreens and beautiful chrysanthemums. The first part of the evening was spent in acting charades, which proved to be very interesting to all present. Later in the evening one and all put on their thinking caps and examined closely the small brown pennies that had been given to them and found many strange things upon their two sides. Mr. the crowd began to separate and topic cards were distributed and all were invited and urged to attend the Epworth League meeting on Sunday night. (Special Dispatch to The Times.)

The building will be 200 feet long by 15 feet wide and four stories high. It will be used exclusively as a cigar factory, and several hundred white girls will be given employment. The old building will be used for stemming purposes only. The company now employs about 1,000 operatives, principally females.

The evidence in the suit of Crowder's Administrator against the Norfolk and Western Railroad has all been given and the jury discharged until Friday morning, at which time instructions will be read.

Mr. Clarence A. Woolfolk, whose death occurred in Norfolk yesterday, was well known in Petersburg, though he had spent but a short time in this city. Many Petersburg people had the opportunity of knowing him well at the beach this summer, where he added much to their pleasure while he was a guest at the Virginia Beach Hotel. Mr. Woolfolk recently spent two weeks in Petersburg in the interest of the plan in this city of capitalizing an afternoon newspaper.

He met many of the leading business men and made friends of all of them. He was one of the best newspaper men in the State. The announcement of his death brought sorrow to many hearts in Petersburg.

A QUIET MARRIAGE.
Mr. Patrick Hamilton and Miss Lena May Doman, of this city, were quietly married this evening at 6 o'clock, at the residence of the bride's mother, on Market Street. Rev. Mr. Foster, of the Methodist Church, performed the ceremony. Only the immediate family and friends of the couple were present.

GOOD PROSPECTS FOR TOBACCO SALES

Hunting in Southside Virginia Reported Good—A New Stove Factory at Meherrin.

(Special Dispatch to The Times.)
MEHERRIN, VA., November 12.—Messrs. Powell and Edwards, inspectors of Price's Warehouse, had their opening sale here yesterday. Notwithstanding the unfavorable weather for handling tobacco, about 15,000 pounds was offered, and all seemed satisfied except one man, who took his in and afterwards sold privately for less than he was offered on the floor.

Buyers were present from Danville, Drake's Branch, Farmville, Keysville, and Chase City. Both bright and dark was offered, and the highest price received was $7.50 per hundred. This is a good dark and bright tobacco section, and the prospects are very bright for good sales in the future. Two special sales will be held every week on Tuesdays and Fridays, where a corps of extra buyers will be on hand, and the rest of the week the local buyers will be present.

Hunting has been better in this section than it has been for several years. Turkeys, deer, quails, rabbits and squirrels can be seen often almost in shooting distance of the town. On Knight and Tuggle's Pond, near here, about fifteen ducks have been killed this season, with scores of rabbits, quails, etc. It is a common thing to see hunters return from several hours' search with a long string of birds, and often a day's game by their sides.

The recent mild winters and the scarcity of hunters has been very favorable for them, and now the people are taking advantage of the numerous supply that has been allowed to accumulate.

The large stove factory that is being erected by Messrs. Crawford and Company near this place is about completed. Several cars of machinery have been unloaded here, and the company will be cutting staves next week. Mr. Crawford says he has already enough timber ordered to last him twelve months, and a large force of hands will be used.

Mr. L. B. Perkins has commenced the construction of a large storehouse near where his old one was burnt a few years ago, and in a few weeks it will be completed. When he will move from his present quarters, which are not large enough to accommodate his already large trade.

Mr. A. Blumberg has recently completed the new building which has been neatly repaired by Mrs. H. W. Walke. Monday with his people, and went out for a few hours' hunt and bagged a fine turkey, rabbit and a few quails.

KILLED BY FALLING TREE

Madison Methodists Hope the Conference Will Send Two Ministers.

(Special Dispatch to The Times.)
TWYMAN'S MILL, VA., Nov. 12.—News of the sudden death in New Plymouth, O., of Mr. William E. Ward has been received here by his relatives. He was killed by a tree falling on him.

Three years ago he married a daughter of Mr. J. A. Spicer, of this county.

Rev. T. S. Letch preached the best sermon of this Conference year at Walker's Church Sunday morning.

The subject of dividing the Madison Circuit has been under consideration for some time, as eight churches, a long distance apart, make the work very heavy for only one preacher. It is hoped that it will be decided by Conference to divide it.

Miss E. P. Gordon, of Chicago, one of the national organizers and lecturers for the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, will spend the last week in November in the county working for the interest of that organization. Appointments have been made for her at Locust Dale, Oak Park, Rochelle and several other places.
